All attendees—along with local teens and young adults—will have the opportunity to sample and test products, voting for their favorites in each category: Skin Care, Cosmetics, Bath, and Sun Care. (*Beauty tools will be included within their respective categories.)

Awards will be presented to the top picks, with winners announced that evening. The NextGen Beauty Picks will take place on-site, providing suppliers with a unique opportunity to gain valuable feedback from both industry professionals and the next generation of beauty consumers.

Suppliers may submit up to three products for consideration. ECRM will provide tables, and participants are responsible for any additional materials needed for product testing.
